

Trial Lawyers Committed to Success

KURT ARNOLD, JASON ITKIN AND THE OTHER HARD-working trial lawyers at Arnold & Itkin LLP are passionate about helping clients and winning in the courtroom.

First and foremost, Arnold & Itkin LLP is a trial firm. The firm's lawyers have tried more cases in the last four years than most other attorneys will try in their entire careers. Arnold & Itkin LLP's lawyers have handled cases in more than 30 states in both state and federal court and have tried more than 50 cases throughout the last four years.

"Our attorneys prepare every case to go to trial because settlement is not always an option," says Arnold, the firm's co-founder. "We know that our clients will recover the most money when those responsible are standing on the steps of the courthouse."

"When we walk into court our client's future is in our hands," says Itkin. "That is why we can't afford to lose." Arnold & Itkin

LLP's fee arrangements are crafted so that the firm only gets paid when its clients have a successful recovery.

Arnold & Itkin LLP's trial practice has traditionally focused on commercial disputes, maritime cases and catastrophic personal injury claims. The firm has now expanded its practice to include pharmaceutical litigation. It is currently prosecuting hundreds of cases across the nation on behalf of those harmed from heparin contaminated in China, and babies that suffered birth defects as a result of their mothers taking Paxil while pregnant.

Arnold & Itkin LLP is proud to count five of its lawyers among those listed in 2010 Texas Rising Stars, a peer-selected compilation of the state's top young lawyers based on experience and abilities. With peer recognition like that, it's no wonder that so many lawyers trust Arnold & Itkin LLP to help handle their clients' claims.
